

HUGE AWARD SEAT AVAILABILITY

A text alert says "Premium Award Seats" just opened on your dream route. You must click the link to book within 10 minutes before they are gone.

- A. Click and book immediately.
- B. Forward to a savvy friend to check.
- C. Search availability on the airline site.
- D. Ignore, real alerts never require a link click.

SAFE ACTION(S): C OR D

(Scoring: A: 0, B: 2, C: 4, D: 4)

WHY:

Scammers bait you with "limited" seats to steal loyalty logins. Real seats will show up in your official account search.

BANK EMAIL

An email with your bank's logo warns of suspicious overseas logins and urges you to click a secure-looking link to reset your password.

- A. Click the link immediately.
- B. Ask a friend for his opinion.
- C. Call your bank.
- D. Don't engage and delete the email.

SAFE ACTION(S): C OR D

(Scoring: A: 0, B: 2, C: 4, D: 4)

WHY:

If a message feels strange, don't click the link; just delete it or call a number you already trust to check if it is real.

GRANDCHILD IN JAIL

Someone calls claiming to be your grandchild and urgently needs bail money. Their voice sounds different, and they beg you not to tell their parents.

- A. Send money immediately.
- B. Ask a question only they would know.
- C. Call their parents or another family member to confirm the child's location.
- D. Refuse to send money until you verify the story.

SAFE ACTION(S): B, C OR D

(Scoring: A: 0, B: 4, C: 4, D: 4)

WHY:

Scammers use fake family emergencies to scare you into sending money before you have time to think.

PRO TIP:

Always verify with another trusted family member or by asking a personal question first.

YOU WON THE LOTTERY

You receive a message saying you've won a lottery and must provide bank details to collect the prize. You never entered or played a lottery.

- A. Ask how you won the lottery.
- B. Call the number for more details.
- C. Send bank details immediately.
- D. Block the sender and delete the message.

- C. Send bank details immediately.
- D. Block the sender and delete the message.

SAFE ACTION(S): D

(Scoring: A: 2, B: 0, C: 0, D: 4)

WHY:
You cannot win a lottery unless you actually bought a ticket first.

PRO TIP:
Never pay or share data to claim a prize you didn't enter to win.

WHEN EVERYTHING SAYS RUSH, PAUSE FIRST!

Scammers spend years practicing their attack game. How good is your defense game?

MILITARY DOCTOR EMERGENCY

Your overseas lover (a supposed military/doctor) says they need money wired to a shipping agent to cover costs for a large box of their valuables meant for you.

- A. Propose they send the package via a major international carrier you choose.
- B. Send the money to the shipping agent.
- C. Request the address and phone number of their military base/hospital.
- D. End communication.

SAFE ACTION(S): D

(Scoring: A: 2, B: 0, C: 3, D: 4)

WHY:

Scammers pretend to be doctors or soldiers to build trust and give a believable reason why they can't meet you in person.

DATING APP CONSTANT TRAVELER

Someone you've been chatting with on a dating app always has an excuse for why they can't meet in person, citing constant travel to remote locations.

- A. Accept as the stories seem genuine.
- B. Ask for a video call at a specific time.
- C. Reverse image search their profile picture to check for fraud.
- D. Stop messaging them if they refuse to verify their identity.

SAFE ACTION(S): B, C OR D

(Scoring: A: 1, B: 4, C: 4, D: 4)

WHY:

Scammers often use constant excuses to avoid meeting or proving who they are because they are hiding their true identity to trick you.

THE URGENT WIRE TRANSFER

You receive an urgent email from your “CEO” (with a slightly altered address) instructing you to wire $50,000 to a new supplier for a confidential merger.

- A. Immediately execute the wire transfer as requested by your CEO.
- B. Look up the name of the new supplier online to see if they are legitimate.
- C. Reply, asking for confirmation of the new supplier's banking details.
- D. Call the CEO to verify the request.

SAFE ACTION(S): D

(Scoring: A: -2, B: 1, C: 0, D: 2)

WHY:

This is a scam where someone pretends to be your boss to demand an urgent payment; you should always confirm large transfers by calling them or speaking in person.
